Item 5. Interest in Securities of the Issuer.

The information contained on the cover pages to this Schedule 13D is hereby incorporated herein by reference.

KASLION Acquisition B.V., as sole shareholder of NXP controls NXP and accordingly, may be deemed to beneficially own the shares of Common Stock held by NXP. Purchase Agreement

Pursuant to the Purchase Agreement, the Shares are subject to certain transfer restrictions during the 30-month period following the Closing Date (the "Lock-Up Period"). In general, and subject to certain exceptions, during the Lock-up Period, NXP may not sell, contract to sell, exchange, transfer, pledge, distribute or otherwise dispose of, directly or indirectly ("Transfer"), the Shares. On the first day of each of the 16 calendar months following May 16, 2010, 100,000 Shares will be released from the transfer restrictions, and on October 1, 2011, an additional 66,667 Shares will be released. All Shares that remain restricted on May 17, 2012 will be released from the transfer restrictions on that date.

In addition to the transfer restrictions set forth above, NXP also has agreed to certain volume limitations with respect to Transfers of the Shares. During the Lock-up Period, NXP may not, in any 30-day period, Transfer a number of Shares that is more than the greater of (x) 250,000 and (y) a number of Shares that is 10 times the average trading volume of the Common Stock for the 60 daily trading sessions immediately before the date of NXP's proposed sale. Furthermore, except as described below, NXP must retain a sufficient number of Shares to satisfy the Issuer's repurchase option described below.

Notwithstanding the transfer and volume-based restrictions described above, and so long as NXP retains a sufficient number of Shares to satisfy the Issuer's repurchase option described below, NXP may effect certain transfers pursuant to block transactions not cleared through a securities exchange, provided that NXP is not permitted to transfer Shares to certain specified ineligible buyers. In the event that NXP proposes to transfer at least 250,000 Shares in such a transaction, NXP must provide the Issuer notice of its intent to complete such a transaction, following which the Issuer will have 15 days to arrange an alternative block transaction. If the Issuer does not arrange an alternative transaction and NXP proceeds with the proposed transfer of Shares, the purchaser of such Shares must agree to be bound by certain of the transfer restrictions described above, provided that the reference to 250,000 shares in the volume restriction described in the paragraph above will be to 300,000.

Notwithstanding the transfer and volume-based restrictions described above, and so long as NXP is able to satisfy the Issuer's repurchase option described below (other than in the case of Transfers pursuant to the first bullet below), NXP may Transfer the Shares in the following circumstances:

- pursuant to any tender offer, exchange offer, merger, sale of the Issuer, reclassification, reorganization, recapitalization or other transaction that has been approved or recommended by the board of directors of the Issuer;
- in the event the Issuer exercises its repurchase option, as described below;
- to an affiliate of NXP; and
- as a pledge of NXP's assets pursuant to a bona fide financing transaction or in any bona fide execution against such pledge by the secured party.

In general, any such permitted transferees or pledgees, pursuant to the third and fourth bullets above, respectively, must agree to the transfer and volume-based restrictions set forth in the Purchase Agreement.

In addition, during the Lock-up Period, one-third of the Shares will be subject to a right of repurchase by the Issuer at escalating purchase prices over the 30 months after the Closing Date. For repurchases on or prior to November 16, 2010, the per share price at which Shares are repurchased would be approximately $6.22 (which represents approximately 115% of $5.412, which is the average closing price of the Common Stock on the Nasdaq Global Market on the 10 trading days ending the trading day before the Closing Date (such average, the "Reference Price")). For repurchases following November 16, 2010 and on or prior to November 16, 2011, the per share price at which Shares are repurchased would be approximately $7.04 (which represents approximately 130% of the Reference Price). For repurchases following November 16, 2011 but prior to the end of the Lock-Up Period, the per share price at which Shares are repurchased would be approximately $7.85 (which represents approximately 145% of the Reference Price).

The description of the Purchase Agreement contained herein is qualified in its entirety by reference to Exhibit 2, which is incorporated herein by reference.

In addition, NXP may pledge all or part of the Shares under its existing credit facility and indentures.

Other than the Purchase Agreement, and if NXP pledges all or part of the Shares under its credit facility and indentures, any pledge agreements, there are no contracts, arrangements, understandings or relationships (legal or otherwise) among any of the Reporting Persons or, to the best of the Reporting Persons' knowledge, any of the Executive Officers or Directors, and any person with respect to the Shares.
